The M42 engine is found in two cars; the 318is versions of the E30 and E36.

However, the E36 318is was later "upgraded" to the M44 engine, which is not as desirable for a simple swap due to its increased complexity.

The eager and surprisingly tuneable 4 cylinder 16 valve unit from the E30 318is, E36 318is and E36 318Ti Compact has been a favourite of ours for years. The compact design lends itself perfectly to replacing BMW's 8 valve M10 and M40 engines, in pretty much all their applications, but of course there are always pit-falls to consider.

bad engine, the idea of an engine swap popped into our heads. Installing the S52 or S54 engine (from the E36- or E46-chassis M3) is a popular swap, but it has been done to death. And in our opinion it changes the light, simple character of the 318is that we love so much.

I'm sure i've seen later e46 lumps dropped in an e36, sure there's a few with 530/535 v8's dropped in too. Not sure what sort of mods that'd require but would sound great lol As said, you're cheapest option would probably be a 2.5l as there are quite a few kicking about and there not exactly slow!

I hope to keep this m42 engine as it only has 200,000km. What do you guys think. I've done some basic searching and haven't found much besides people hating on the 318is and saying to sell it and buy the inline 6. Mostly because it requires a lot of swapping in parts from the inline 6 in order to swap the engine to anything else.
